PREFACE.

We now present to our friends this work, which has been a great source of pleasure to the author, who though not of Duncklee descent, has felt herself to be such in spirit.

We are under great obligations to the many friends who have aided us in this work. Only a few but have given us the facts asked for, while many have more than met the deficiency by their willing help.

There are doubtless errors and omissions in this work; if all persons discovering such will kindly correct them in their own books, and notify us, that we may correct those that are put in public libraries, they will be better authority for coming generations. Spaces for deaths and a few additional births have been left to be used if desired.

Hoping this may prove a source of some pleasure to its readers, I am

Respectfully yours,

MRS. A. M. DUNCKLEE.

EXPLANATORY.

The figures in parenthesis () following the family name refer to the page where the parents' family of the lineal descendant can be found.

The small figure following the given name indicates the generation counting from Hezekiah¹ Duncklee on page 8.

This being essentially a New Hampshire family, it is to be understood that all places where the state is not mentioned are in New Hampshire.

b. is used for born and d. for died.

DAVID DUNKLEE AND ANCESTORS.

ELNATHAN⁰⁰ DUNKLEY and SILENCE BOWERS.

Married 14 Dec. 1656.

He lived in Dedham, Mass. as early as 1651 and died 17 Feb. 1669, in Dedham, Mass.

No account of her family given or of her death.

First account of him given in Dedham town records:—he was bound out for a year for a few pounds and shillings. After that his taxes every year were only a few shillings and pence, and after his death his children had to be bound out, and his widow helped. One account of her, she and a neighbor woman were paid so much a year for sweeping the meeting-house and ringing the bell.

They had five children:

Ruth,	Baptized 11 Jan. 1661 or '2, in Dedham, Mass.
Elnathan,		"	"
Hannah,		"	"
David,	Baptized 2 Feb. 1666,	"	"
† Nathaniel,	" 11 Feb. 1669,	"	"

One legend which has been handed down to me was: That the first "Dunklee" to come to this country was a Scotch boy, kidnapped by English sailors, and left in this country after a voyage. If this were so, and Elnathan the lad, it would account for his want of capital with which to start in life in the new country.

NATHANIEL² DUNKLEY and Mrs. MARY (FRENCH) SHARP.

Married 23 March, 1693.

He was baptized 11 Feb. 1669, in Dedham, Mass.
and died ———

She was born 3 April, 1670, in Billerica, Mass. and died 17 Sept. 1729 in Lexington, Mass. She was daughter of Lieut. William French of Billerica, Mass.

He was in Woburn, Mass. in 1693. Five years later he was at Watertown, Mass. where he and his wife were received into the church 18 Dec. 1698. He removed to Lexington, Mass. about the year 1701, and in 1705 was received into the church there by a letter of dismission from the church in Watertown, Mass. His farm (of sixty acres) in Lexington was near the present boundry between Lexington and Bedford. They had eight children:

David,	baptized 21 Sept. 1701, in Lexington.
Eluathan,	" 11 Apr. 1703, "
Jonathan,	" 7 Jan. 1705, "
Hannah,	" 18 May. 1707, "
† Hezekiah,	" 21 Nov. 1708, "
Robert,	" 9 Apr. 1710, "

HEZEKIAH¹ DUNKLEE and DAMARIS WILSON.

Married 17 Oct. 1734.

He settled in Lexington, Mass. but removed to Billerica, Mass. about 1739, where he resided several years. Then he came to Souhegan West, (now Amherst, N. H.) in 1761 or '62, where he resided until his death, which occurred about 1772, as his will was presented for probate the 30th of July of that year. In it he gave his negro servant her liberty at his death.

He was baptized in Lexington, Mass. 21 Nov. 1708.

DAVID² DUNCKLEE and PHEBE ODELL.

Married ———

He was born 16 Aug. 1746, in Billerica, Mass., and died

13 Aug. 1826, in Amherst, N. H.

She was born 2 Aug. 1750, in ——— and d. 6 Jan. 1839, in Amherst, N. H.

They were farmers, settled prior to 1770 in Amherst, N. H. on the farm near the Hollis and Milford lines in the south-west part of the town, lately occupied by Willard Hayden, a grandson by law, and later still by his daughter Mrs. Mary (Hayden) Batchelder, wife of the late Ira Alonzo Batchelder, and great-grand-daughter of David and Phebe Duncklee. This farm laid in the old town of Monson.

We know nothing particularly great of David Duncklee; he must have been possessed of a fair share of executive ability as we find his name nearly every year in the Town Records as Surveyor of Highways; a few years as Tything-man, so we judge him a good man, trusted by his fellow church-men. That he was a prosperous, and industrious man is shown by the buildings he erected on his homestead farm, about the year 1790.

This farm to-day contains 72 acres, situated in all three towns, Amherst, Milford and Hollis; probably the original farm contained many more acres. These buildings have been well preserved by his children and grandchildren, and they stand on the edge of a bluff-like hill, commanding a broad view for many miles of the valley below, showing his love for the beautiful.

The petition for the road to be laid out by his place was granted in Dec. 1773, and extended on to the west, over the hill, long known as "Duncklee Hill." That he was a methodical man is shown by the well preserved dates of births and deaths in his family. Headstones were erected for his two little ones buried in the "Old Yard," Amherst, N. H. He and his wife are supposed to rest beside them, there, tho' no stones mark the spot. Er, There are stones.

I have the impression that he was a well educated man for the times; there are books that were preserved by his grand-sons, and handed down, supposed to have come from him. They were dated Edinburgh, Scotland, 1787 and 1789, and with them the story that his ancestors were Scottish Peers. If so, they were back in the seventeenth century. Another story tallies with this: that David Duncklee had notice from England that a large fortune awaited there, for himself and other heirs here in America, but probably they could not meet all proofs required by the English law, so never received it.

He reared a large family of children, thirteen in all, and all but two living to marry; all but one, who was a silversmith and clock-maker, were farmers like their father, carrying on the cooper's trade during the winter season, and nearly all of them settled on farms within a few miles of the old homestead.

There are two grand-daughters living yet, (Dec. 1905), Mrs. Ellen M. Morse of East Lebanon, N. H., daughter of Silas and Mrs. Louisa Tenney of Newport, N. H., now in her eighty third year. She relates the story that her father, John, used to tell, of how his mother used to call the children out of the house, to hide in the currant bushes near by, saying "Hush, hush, the Indians are coming," and she remembers of seeing an arrow which was shot at her grandfather, David, by the Indians, and which lodged in his coat sleeve. These little stories serve to show the unsettled condition of affairs in those days, and what our fore-fathers had to contend with.

His wife, Phebe Odell, was an Amherst girl, being the daughter of William and Phebe (——) Odell, who settled in Souhegan West, (now Amherst, N. H.) as early as 1754. We do not find David and Phebe (Odell) Duncklee's marriage recorded, but the following are their children, all born in Amherst, N. H.:

HEZEKIAH³ DUNCKLEE and BETSEY FARLEY. (12)

Married 1792.

He was b. 2 May, 1771, in Amherst, and d. about 1857, near Ticonderoga, N. Y.

She was b. 18 Mar. 1772, in Hollis, and d. there 6 Aug. 1820, in Hollis. She was daughter of Ebenezer and Betsey (Wheeler) Farley.

They were farmers like their parents; he also had the trade of a basket maker. They first settled in the south western part of Hillsboro', where all their children were b. Then they removed to Hollis about 1813, and lived on the w. shore of Long Pond, now called Silver Lake, some three or miles s. of the father's homestead. He did not seem to be blessed with the art of accumulating wealth, and after a few years, leaving his family in Hollis, he joined his two older sons in York state, where they had settled in Potsdam. This was about 1817 or '18.

In 1841, a younger son with his family, removed to York state, and he went to live with them, near Ticonderoga.

His two older sons having pushed farther along into the wilderness, going some 18 miles beyond Chicago, Ill., he remained with this younger son a few years, then married 2nd a Widow Potter, and lived not far from Ticonderoga, N.Y. Of this last wife we have been unable to learn any facts, only that both died in that place. A story is told by a grand-nephew, of seeing him drive up into his brother's yard here in Milford, with a large load of baskets of his own make, which he had brought all the way from Ticonderoga, N. Y., to sell here in the eastern markets.

He must have been then over seventy years of age.

HANNAH DUNCKLEE GENEALOGY.

HANNAH³ DUNCKLEE and WILLIAM B. KING. (13)

Married in 1802 or '03.

She was born 21 April 1781 in Amherst, and died 27 Jan. 1855, in Waltham, Mass.

Have been unable to find his birth place or parents' names. The first of their married life was spent in Washington, N. H. but he moved to Milford or Hollis about 1812 learning his trade of clock maker and organ manufacturer and working for a Mr. Gould of Hollis. In 1818 he left his family here and went South with Mr. Nathaniel Morrison of Peterboro, who had a contract for waterworks for the the city of Natchez, Miss. but the plan failed, and the men had to shift for themselves; Mr. King died that year of yellow fever in Mobile, Ala. Thus this daughter was left with a family while a young woman; I understand she used to weave bed-ticking and later went to Waltham, Mass. where she took boarders; also was a nurse.

He was born 5 Sept. 1784, in Amherst and died 5 Oct. 1832, in Newport, N. H.

She was born 1 July 1787, in Newport, and died there 5 March 1841.

She was daughter of Matthew and Sally (Nevers) Buell.

He was a goldsmith and clockmaker; was the only son of David Duncklee but what followed their father's trade of farming. Without any doubt he learned his trade of the Mr. Gould of Hollis, the clockmaker and organ manufacturer who lived not a great ways from his father's home. And as his sister Hannah and her husband Wm. King (who was a clockmaker also) lived in Washington, N. H. at that time, after tarrying with them he pushed on farther north, and chose Newport as his permanent home, amidst the beautiful scenery of Lake Sunapee. Here he met his wife, prospered in his business, beyond the average, if we may credit all stories, being able to give his children good educations for the times. He and his wife are spoken of as the prominent people of Newport, one hundred years ago, but having settled so far away from the home place, he and his descendants were hardly known to the near by relatives.

Their children were:

William Smith⁴ b. 12 Dec. 1808, in Newport.

Henry Hartwell⁴ b. 21 Sept. 1810, in "

and died there 1 July 1838. Unm. He had the care of the Congregational Church for many years, ringing the bell four times a day; a wonderful man in the children's memories.
